

Farms

Hamstead and Great Barr has been for most of its time a rural community and even today has significant reminders of its rural past. Only one farmhouse exists at Peak House, although there are plans for it to be redeveloped shortly. There are several areas which are used for grazing but no real farming.